

Little One Books Review and Giveaway (Ends 10/26/10)

October 15, 2010 | Posted by Jessi

CLOSED: The winner is comment #57, Christina Anne D.

Thanks to Little One Books, my toddler niece got to try one of their DVDs. We chose the "Phonics 4 Babies: Baby's First Words" DVD. It's perfect because she is fourteen months old, knows a few words, and is picking up new ones all the time.

My favorite feature of their site is that it categorizes the products by age group. It made it very easy for us to decide on the right DVD. I'm sure that it's frustrating to parents when they spend money on something that doesn't hold their child's attention. Little One Books has fixed that.

The DVD arrived quickly in the mail and we watched it the same day. I didn't realize it at the time but "Phonics 4 Babies: Baby's First Words" is hosted by Mallory Lewis. She is the daughter of Shari Lewis the ventriloquist that did Lamb Chops. Mallory is as talented as her mother and looks a lot like her. My sister and I were mesmerized by the ventriloquism. My niece liked the puppets, music, and when they giggled. She didn't repeat any of the words but it was only her first time watching it.

Of course we enjoyed it because every product at Little One Books has been chosen with care. They don't just stock whatever is available. They take the time to pick and choose what will and won't be sold by them. It has to meet their high standards.

Little One Books has been so kind as to offer one of my readers a $25 gift certificate to their store. They're also giving everyone, not just my readers, free shipping on orders until November 15 so buy your stuff now. Now for the giveaway.

Mandatory Entry: Follow me on Google Friend Connect (located in the far right sidebar). Then go to Little One Books and tell me which age group you'll be shopping in. (Include your GFC username in your comment.)
